began her career as an actress, where she appeared in motion pictures and episodic television (Spider-man, That 70's Show, E.R., J.A.G., etc.), including lead roles in pilots and a series regular on ABC's Cracker. She attended classes at the USC School of Cinema, where she made Holiday, a music video for Universal's band Minibar. This inspired her to attend Art Center College of Design in Pasadena, CA, where she is now a film major. Sally worked as an art department intern for the Fox Searchlight production 8888 (Alexander Hammond, Production designer, 2006). She has recently completed Art Center's sponsored projects: Eaton's Water (15 min, super 16mm) and a commercial for VHI Save the Music (60 sec, 35mm). She is currently working on an Untitled Global Warming Project.
